

October 18, 2017

Dear Chairman Brady and Members of the Committee on Ways and Means, Chairman Hatch and Members of the Committee on Finance:

We write to urge Congress to include a permanent extension and expansion of the New Markets Tax Credit (NMTC) in tax reform legislation, along the lines of the bipartisan New Markets Tax Credit Extension Act of 2017 (H.R. 1098 / S. 384).

The NMTC program attracts capital to eligible communities by providing private investors with a federal tax credit for investments made in businesses or economic development projects located in some of the most distressed communities in the nation. Under the statute, NMTC investments are limited to low-income communities. No other the federal tax incentive is generally available to economically distressed communities to promote economic revitalization.

NMTC is an essential tool for community revitalization. Between 2003 and 2015, $42 billion in NMTC investments leveraged over $80 billion in total investments to businesses and revitalization projects in low-income rural and urban communities, generating some 750,000 jobs. The cost to the federal government was less than $20,000 per job. Further, 72 percent of NMTC activity was in the most distressed communities in America, with unemployment rates 1.5 times the national average, poverty rates of at least 30 percent, or median income at or below 60 percent of area median.

Instead of Washington picking winners and losers, the NMTC empowers community leaders, businesses, and investors to make all financing decisions. Both small farming towns and urban areas rely on the NMTC to finance industrial and commercial facilities, daycare and healthcare centers, small business loan funds, and mixed-use developments.

The economic activity generated by the NMTC provides a significant return on investment to the federal government. By easing the flow of commercial credit to underserved communities, the NMTC puts people back to work, generating economic growth and more than enough tax revenue to cover its cost to taxpayers.

As Congress considers a re-write of the tax code, we urge it to provide a permanent extension and expansion of the New Markets Tax Credit.

Signed,
